

Smart typography

“Straight quotes” become curly quotes, ‘single ones’ too, and it’s clever about apostrophes in it’s, don’t and the ‘90s. Two hyphens – like these – become an en dash, three — like these — an em dash, and three dots... become an ellipsis.

Ranges and numbers read better for it: pages 12–18, the 2024–2026 season, a 3–2 result, and –40 °C is the same as -40 °F.

Code is never touched: "quotes" -- stay -- literal... and so does a fenced block:

```
"straight" -- here --- and...
```

Two ways to force a line break inside one paragraph, for addresses and verse:
